

FREE LAW ANSWER WRITING PRACTICE + PRELIMS MCQ INITIATIVE

The importance of Answer Writing Practice for scoring well with Law Optional cannot be emphasised enough.

CHALLENGES FACED BY STUDENTS:

Most students despite having the requisite knowledge and content on a topic are not able to organise the content and present it effectively during the exam. It can be because of the following reasons:

- They are writing too much content in some answers and due to mismanagement of time, they aren't able to complete the paper. This can probably be because they are used to law college style of answer writing wherein most of the students had the tendency to fill pages instead of writing crisp yet comprehensive answers.
- They are in a hurry to just complete the paper and are thus attempting the questions in a hastily manner without comprehensive content or without understanding the demand of the question.
- They are focusing disproportionately on including numerous case laws in the answer and are not explaining the core content of the answer or the ratio of the case properly in the answer.
- They failed to understand whether the question required them to analyse or just describe the concept. Faulty approach in answer writing fetches them lesser marks despite knowing the content well.

Thus, to overcome these challenges it is very important to first learn how to write law answers according to demands of UPSC and then move on to writing them in a timely manner in exam-like conditions. This is the reason that this Law Answer Writing Practice Program has been planned in two phases.

PHASE I – PRELIMINARY PHASE –28thMARCH to 30thAPRIL 2022

- Objective: To learn how to write different types of questions – descriptive, analytical, comparison-based, etc. – of all law syllabus subjects.
- This phase has been planned in order to allow students to prepare well for Prelims exam without losing touch with their optional subject.
- 5 questions will be posted per week on the Chrysalis IAS website.
- Students would need to upload their handwritten answers in the comments section, and their evaluated answers will be mailed to them.
- Detailed discussion video for each question shall be uploaded on the Youtube channel of Chrysalis IAS.
- 5 MCQs will be posted every weekday from Monday to Friday in the following two locations:
 - i) Chrysalis IAS website.
 - ii) Telegram group [DAILY PRELIMS QUIZ WITH SHALKA MA'AM], which shall be a mixture of static and current portions.
